

...I enjoyed learning how to do some of their dances for particular songs. At first I was very shy about getting up and dancing but I ended up being pulled by three Cuban girls to dance with them, I wished I wasn't so nervous or shy to get up on my own, but I am thankful that I did get up and dance with them. During my time at camp I met so many people; I loved hearing their stories of how they became Christians and how each day their faith in Christ is growing stronger.

After our time at camp we spent the rest of the time going to each of our sister churches. We managed to have more than enough time to visit other churches in the district that did not have a sister church back in Florida. I enjoyed going to both my sister churches. To see how different their churches were. I knew they had very little material things but I never realized how little they actually had, but I was surprised how well they managed without complaint. It made me realize how privileged I am here and how much I take for granted.

My favorite thing about being at the sister churches was all the love I received from the Pastor and their family. I remember Pastor Cuba saying I am his daughter in Christ, that he is my father in Cuba. It just made me feel so good to know that I have an extended family in Christ. If I put it that way then I have over thousands of family members in Christ in Cuban. I met family members every day at camp and at the different sister churches.

My time that I spent in Cuba will never be forgotten. All the experiences and people that I have met there have opened my eyes to a whole different way to worship and praise Christ. I am very thankful that I had the opportunity to go and experience this first hand.
